Founder + Principal Designer

A native of Washington, DC, Brijé Smith spent her early years admiring the strict neoclassical style of the city, sparking her interest in design and architecture, and spearheading what would later become Harper + Parkyr Design House. Leaning on her bold and eccentric design style, Smith has transformed blank canvases into funky, highly-functional spaces that reflect the interests, style, and needs of her clientele.

Why choose us?

Harper + Parkyr Design House recognizes the power of color and texture as it relates to the human psyche. We pride ourselves on delivering an exceptional experience for our clients throughout the duration of our partnership and thereafter.

What to expect?

Harper + Parkyr Design House provides an adventure for residential and commercial clientele seeking luxury interior service. Together, through discussion and other hands-on action, we will develop your signature look—taking it from your mind to paper, and ultimately, your room of choice.
